

LITERARY

WEEK

DAY - 3

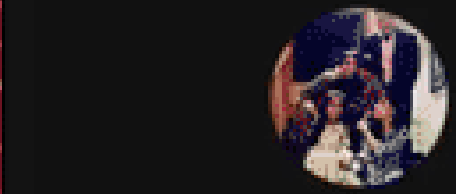

FAIRY TALE ENDINGS

Our seventh graders took to adding an unconventional twist to the time tested fairy tales! Participants had a chance to not only relive their childhood, but also took control of the narrative and changed the misogynistic and orthodox elements of the stories passed on for centuries.

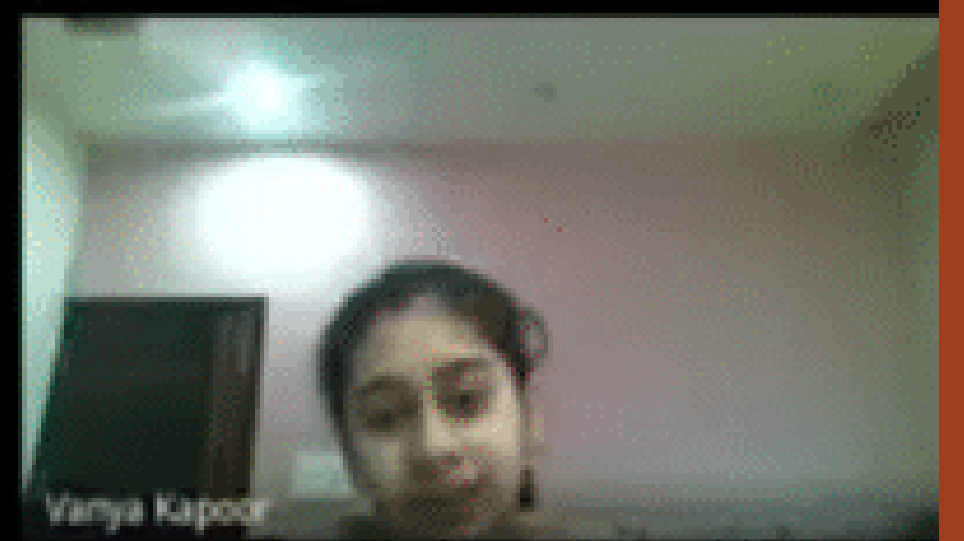

Pratigya bagged first position, followed by Prakriti in second place, and Prakash in third place.

At the end of the event, they explored their inspiration behind choosing to change their particular ending. The young participants reminded us of the power of being the change you wish to see in the world, even if it's changing a fairy tale.

Alankrita Malhotra

HISTORY REWRITTEN

The last day of the literary week witnessed history itself being rewritten. The ingenious students of 11th grade delved into alternative timelines of history and gave us a peek at worlds very different from ours.

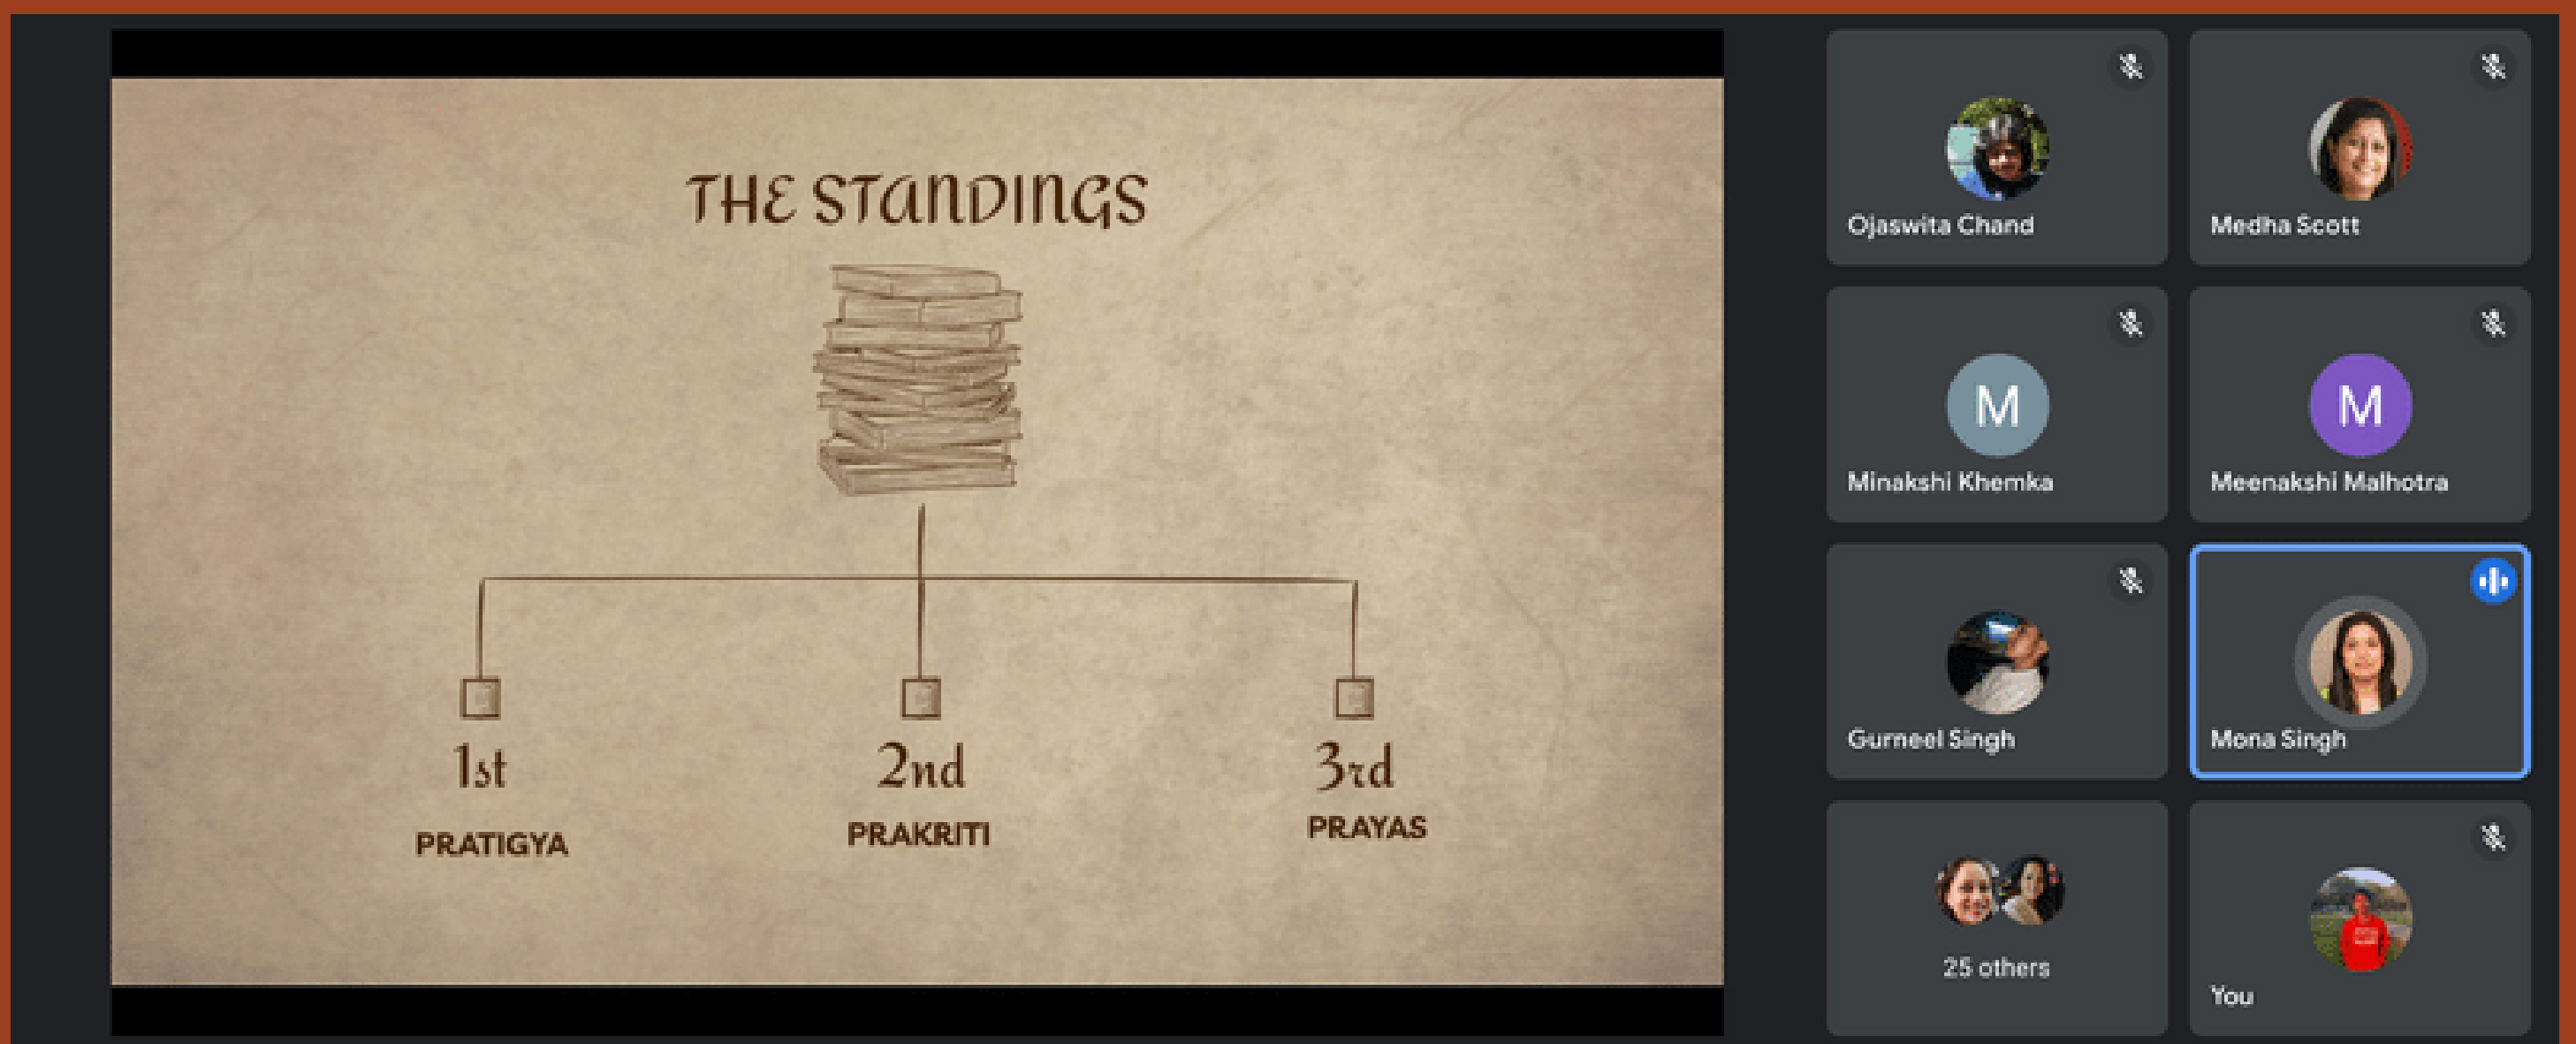

Charles Coxe
Historian

Needless to say, their performances were nothing short of phenomenal. Left completely awestruck, the judges, Mona Ma'am, Minakshi Ma'am and Anuradha Dhawan almost didn't want to deliver the verdict.

But a competition must have a winner, a title which was given to the students of Pratigya house with Prakriti and Prayas not too far behind in second and third place respectively.

Made by the Editorial Board